Services for People Who Are Deaf or Hard of Hearing
Addressing the unique needs of people who are deaf or hard of hearing

Why Special Programs for People with a Hearing Loss?

Goals of the Program

- To provide job opportunities to people who are deaf or hard-of-hearing.
- To address and resolve communication concerns with hearing persons.
- To educate employers on the communication techniques of American Sign Language, speech, reading and written and oral messages.
- To increase sensitivity and awareness of the deaf culture and the limitless potential of deaf and hard-of-hearing individuals.

- Deaf and hard-of-hearing individuals have unique vocational needs.
- The general public often does not recognize the full potential of people with hearing impairments.
- Communication issues often exist between the deaf and hard-of-hearing population and the business community.
- The skills and abilities of those with a hearing loss are overlooked. New Horizons staff focuses on positive attributes and enhancing the skills necessary to seek and retain employment.

Programs and Services Offered

New Horizons has adapted its current vocational programming to accommodate deaf and hard-of-hearing individuals. We offer the following services:

Evaluation and Training
Individuals are first assessed for communication skills and needs. A vocational evaluation and/or training may be arranged to assist with exploring vocational interests and identifying strengths and areas needing improvement.

Job Placement
New Horizons can assist in the job search either through direct representation or a more self-directed approach. Our trained Deaf Specialists provide as much support and information as necessary for a successful job search. This can include teaching job seeking skills, addressing communication needs, and interpreting services.

Job Coaching and Follow Up Services
Sometimes additional support is needed once a job has been secured. Job coaching and deaf awareness training are available to help both the new employee and the employer integrate smoothly. Information and assistance may be provided to arrange any necessary accommodations. Follow along services can be provided after placement to ensure success and satisfaction.
